

Ever wanted to be a part of something new?

Tweet Canberra is fast becoming one of the most trusted and influential Twitter accounts in Canberra. Since we started tweeting on the 18th of January 2014, we've grown to nearly 1,500 followers on Twitter alone and we're looking to expand our audience.

We are launching our freshly designed website soon and are looking for an army of contributing writers who have a love for social media and a desire to publish unique content. The only condition is that you have fun and enjoy working with us, not for us!

Tweet Canberra's aim is to give voice to the community of Canberra and showcasing everything that is great about our city. To that end, the content that you produce must be related to Canberra. You can produce content in any form and on any network (Instagram, Facebook, blog posts) as long as it is creating benefit to Canberra. We are also keen to report on the latest news that affects Canberrans so having a desire to be the first to report newsworthy items is a must.

Do you?

- Have a love for social media?
- Love to write?
- Have a desire to publish unique content?
- Create value for Canberrans?
- Like to make videos or take high quality photos?

Then this opportunity is for you!

This role is unpaid but we will support you in your drive to produce a high quality portfolio for your future career. You'll also have the chance to go along to events for free as a representative of Tweet Canberra and network with professionals in Canberra which is invaluable to your career. Together, we will build the content of Tweet Canberra and you'll be able to be a part of this exciting business from now and into the future.

Want to get involved?

Simply email your ideas on how we can work together to info@tweetcanberra.com.au and we'll get back to you as soon as possible.
